Minutes from Previous Meeting

For our previous meeting, our group wanted to go over exactly what we have planned for our sprint 2, as well as what we have already accomplished and what we wanted to change based on the API data we could acquire. We found better APIs to use near the end of our last sprint, but we agreed to continue to look for more accessible ones since some of the ones we found were locked behind an expensive paywall or not usable anymore. After going through the APIs, we established what tasks we had already finished and unanimously agreed that despite deviating from our original product backlog, we are still on track with our sprints. Also, since our previous meeting was the day before our team meeting was scheduled to take place, we finalized our slides and presentation, making sure to get everyone on the same page and confident in our progress. In total, our meeting was 25 minutes long. The next meeting date decided upon is 04/13/2022.
